

Tim Taylor

Having worked in public and social sector organisations for over fifteen years, Tim began offering consultancy services under the Skills & Projects banner in 1998. Since then, he has developed an excellent track record in working with a wide range of housing and higher education clients, associates and consultancies both within the UK and overseas. Tim is an expert in people development, facilitating organisational change and practitioner research. He complements his consultancy role through his work as a member of the University of Westminster's educational development team and has over ten years experience as a visiting lecturer in the University's School of Architecture & Built Environment. Tim is a Fellow of the Chartered Institute of Housing and is active in the work of the Institute's London Branch. He is also a Fellow of the Higher Education Academy and a reviewer for Henley Management College's Action Learning journal.